STELLA PETROU CONCHA

WALKING INTO THE UNKNOWN AND BELIEVING IN THE IMPOSSIBLE

Stella is the Co-Founder and CEO of Reo Group, a Recruitment and Management Consultancy agency. Her vision is to elevate human potential. She is passionate about helping shape the future of executives, empowering them to build a career story that has a positive impact on their own lives, within their industry and broader community, and the world.

In her powerful Key Note "Walking into the unknown and believing in the impossible", Stella shares her story of walking into the unknown, a story of falling in love with failure and believing in the impossible. Stella believes for us to achieve the impossible, we must first conceive that the impossible is possible. She also highlights how we can build a culture of gender equality that embraces differences and benefits everyone by championing equal participation at work, challenging stereotypes and strengthening positive and equal relationship between genders.

3 Key Takeaways

- For us to achieve the impossible, we must first conceive that the impossible is possible.
- How to build a healthy relationship with failure. Are you prepared to accept challenges, to fail and grow?
- How it is possible to use the UN Global Goals as a pathway to challenge how we are aligning our careers, goals and thoughts to a greater global purpose.
